

My name is Sam, and I'm originally from Nova Scotia. My company pays for me to fly to Fort McMurray. I work for 14 days, and then I go home for six days. I make over three times the amount of money here than I could at home. I only have to work six months out of the year to provide for my family. If it weren't for the oil sands, I would probably have to move away from my family to find work.

Facts that help to support my opinion: