

My name is William Lede, and I am the CEO of Leducor. I started my small company in Leduc, Alberta. It's grown over the years, and we now sell millions of barrels of oil for the Alberta consumers. I employ 5000 people, who depend on Leducor and their salaries to support their families. We are always looking for ways to help our company grow and hire more people.

Facts that help to support my opinion: